Writing.

Nowadays, travelling around the world is becoming popular more and more. Even for workers. Sometimes people like to change their workplace and travel, at the same time.

Personally I think that this is a positive development. By travelling around the world and working there you can improve your ^E English and communicating skills as well as receive a lot of experience. You can challenge yourself with the help of working in different conditions. These days you can receive more opportunity to improve your skills by working in different countries. This is a great experience. If I had a chance I would ~~go to~~ travel around the world, work in different places and etc.

Also some ~~of~~ people are trying to be more wide broad-minded, they study different things and work in different ways and ^{work} places. I think it's an excellent way to earn money as well as be more confident in yourselves. ~~And~~ Changing places of residence and careers can help you a lot to understand who ~~are~~ you are and who you want to be.

In conclusion, I think this development is more positive than negative. Of course, people may have some troubles and obstacles in their life with work and etc. But ~~if~~ we need to try our best to live as bright as we can. We need to earn more cultural and work ^e experience to be worth workers.
